THE HORRIBLE STENCH

From The Dead Bodies Becoming Intolerable.

RELIEF PARTIES ORGANIZING,

Hand.

Jounstown, Pa., June 3 .- This morning ens up dark and dreary. Great drops of ins fall occasionally and another storm seems minent. Every one feels thankful, though, that the weather still remains cool and that the gradual putrefaction of hundreds of bodies that still line the streams and lie hidden under miles of driftwood and debris is not unduly hastened. This morning the peculiar STENCH OF DECAYING HUMAN FLESH is plainly perceptible to the senses as one ascends the bank of Stoney creek for half a mile along the smouldering ruins of the wreck, and the most skeptical now conceives the worst and realizes that hundreds—aye, per-haps thousands—of bodies lie charred and blackened beneath this great funeral pyle.

Searchers wander wearily over this smoking mass, and as occasionally a sudden shout come over the waters, patient watchers on the hill realize that another ghastly discovery has een added to that long list of revelations that chills every heart and draws tears to the eyes of pessimists. From the banks many charred remains of victims of the flames and flood are plainly visible to the naked eye, as the receding water reluctantly gives up their dead. Beneath almost every log or blackened

A GLISTERING SKULL or blanched remnants of ribs or limbs mark all that remains of life's hopes and dreams. Since 10 o'cleck last night fire engines have been busy. The waters has been constantly playing on the burning ruins. At times the fire seems almost extinguished, but the fitfal flames suddenly breakout aftersh in some new ter and again water and flames wage a

The chief sensation of the morning has been the united remonstrance of physicians against the extinguishment of the burning wreck. They maintain, with a philosophy to the anxious searchers seems heartiess, that hundreds, if not thousands of lifeless and decaying bodies lie beneath this mass of burning

"It would be better," they say "to permit nature's greatest scavenger, the flames, to pur-sae his work unmolested than to expose to further decay the horde red to permit the recovery of these bodies, and long ere that every corpse will be a putrid mass, yielding forth those frightful emanacrowded community like this, can give but one result, the dreadful typhus. Every battlefield has demonstrated the necessity of the hasty interment of decaying bodies, and the stench that already arises is a fore runner of impending danger."

BURN THE WRECK, BURN THE WRECK. A loud cry of indignation arose from the lips of the vast multitudes, and the warnings of science were lost in the eager demands of those that sought the remains of near and dear. The hose was again turned upon the hissing mass and rapidly the flames vielded to the supremacy of the water. It is almost impossible to conceive the extent of these smoking ruins. An area of eight or ten acres above the dam is covered to the depth of forty feet with shattered houses, borne from the resident center of Johnstown. In each of these houses it is estimated there were from one to twenty or twenwhich to estimate the number that perished bodies that lie beneath these rains must run well up into the hundreds if not the thousands. As yet there is no telling how many lives have been lost. Adjutant-General Hastings, who has charge of everything, stated this morning that he supposed there was at least two thousand people under the burning debris, but the only way to find out how many lives were lost was to take a census of the people now living, and subtract that from the census before the flood. Said he:

"In my opinion there are anywhere from four to five thousand souls lost."

UNCOVERING THE DEAD.

Finding Bodies in Piles-A Famine Threatened. JOHNSTOWN, | June 3.—Rescuing parties who are at work on the mass of unburned wreckage on the river above Stone bridge are finding bodies and fragments of bodies at the tate of from ten to tifteen an hour. In other parts of the submerged district many bodies are being taken out. A careful estimate at this time of the bodies recovered everywhere put it from 700 to 800. The total loss of life ust certainly be from 6,000 to 8,000. Bodies are being picked up in pockets, like ore, in all sorts of unexpected places. 1:10 p. m.—A small frigid cold wave has struck the town, and the people are badly in need of clothing. Newspaper men are among the sufferers. It is almost an impossibility to

IMPOSSIBLE TO ESTIMATE.

The Exact Number of Dead Will Never Be JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.- The developments of every hour make it more and more apparent that the exact number of lives lost in the Johnstown horror will never be known. All estimates that have been made up to this time are conservative, and when all is known will doubtless be found to have been too small. Over 1,000 bodies have been found since sunise today, and the most skeptical concede that the remains of whousands more rest beneath the debris above Johnstown bridge.

The population of Johnstown, surrounding towns and part of the valley affected by the An Associated Press representative today interviewed numerous leading citizens of Johnstown, who survived the flood, and the concensus of opinion was that fully 30 per cent of the residents of Johnstown and Cambria City had been victims of the continued disasters of fire and water. If this be true, And Everybody Willing to Lend a the total loss of life in the entire valley cannot be less than 7,000 or 8,000, and possibly much greater. Of the thousands who were devoured by the flames, and whose ashes rest beneath the smoking debris above Johnstown bridge, no definite information can ever be obtained, as little will be learned of hundreds that were borne swiftly down the Converged to the same of the control of the same of th down the Conemaugh only to be deposited hundreds of miles below on the banks and in the driftwood of the raging Ohio. Probably one-third of the dead will never be recovered, and it will take a list of the missing, weeks hence, to enable even a close estimate to be made of the number of bodies that were seen oating in the river in a brief hour. That this estimate can never be accurate is understood when it is remembered that in many instances whole families and all their relatives were swept away and found a common grave beneath the wild waste of waters. The total destruction of the city leaves no data to even demonstrate that the names of the unfor-tunates ever found a place on the pages of eternity's history.

"All indications point to the fact that the death list will reach over 5,000 names and in my opinion the missing will reach 8,000 in num-bers," declared General Hastings tonight. At present there are said to be 2,200 recovered bodies. The great difficulties experienced in getting a correct list is the great number of morgues. There is now a central bureau of information and to communicate with the differ ent dead houses is the work of hours. The journey from the Pennsylvania railway morgue to one in the fourth ward school house in Johnstown occupies at least one hour. This renders it impossible to reach all of them in one day, particularly as some of the morgues are situated at points inaccessible from Johnstown. At 6 o'clock in the evening 613 bodies had been received at the Cambria depository for BRINGING IN THE COFFINS. A Pathetic Sight-Killing the Scoundrel

Who Rob the Dead. Johnstown, Pa., June 3.—A train of five cars came in from Cumberland, Md., this morning loaded with provisions and thirty men to help clean up the debris. The general undertaking rooms are at work, and about sixty coffins containing the bodies of unknown people are piled up on the station and platform. Quite a pathetic sight was seen this morning on the bridge. Up till today Genoris. There can be but one result. ceased. The report of several lynchings, and the drowning of two Italians while being pursued by citizens yesterday, put a damper on the soulless pilfering for the time. Deputy Sheriff Rose was patrolling the river bank. He found two Hungarians attempting to rob several bodies, and at once gave chase. He found the two taking to the woods, and pulled out pistol and shot twice, wounding both men badly. From the latest reports the men are still living, but are in a critical condition. The sheriff has taken charge of Johnston, and armed men are this morning

People who have been properly in the limits are permitted to enter the city if they are known, but otherwise it is impossible to get into town. This regulation seems harsh, but it is a necessity.

A relief committee from Ohio are pitching their canvas tents on the hillside. They have nine hundred of these tents and they are being eagerly utilized as fast as erected. For the first time since the flood men have been put to work on the debris at the bridge, and are hunting for bodies that have not been burned beyond recognition. This morning a man, man and child were taken from the ruins. The child was clasped in the arms of the woman and the trio were evidently husband, wife and child. It is a most distressing sight to see relatives of people who are supposed t be lost standing round watching every body as it is pulled out and acting more like maniacs than sane people.

GUARDING THE HUNGARIANS.

The Thieves Not Allowed Outside Their Houses-One of Them Strung Up. JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3 .- The citizens' com mittee are making desperate efforts to preserve the peace, and Hungarians at Cambria City are being kept in their houses by men with clubs who will not permit Hungarians to go outside of their houses. There seems considerable race prejudice at Cambria City, and trouble may follow, as both English and Hungarians are gotting worked up to a considerable extent.

Quite an exciting scene took place in the rough of Johnstown last night. A Hungarian was discovered by two men in the the sufferers. THE FORCE OF THE PLOOD can be estimated by the fact that it carried three cars a mile and a half, and the tender of an engine, weighing 12 tons, was carried four-teen miles down the river. A team of horses, which were standing on Main street just before the flood, were found a mile and a quarter below the town yesterday. It is now defi-nitely settled that only about four lives were lost on the train that left Pittsburg on Friday morning last.

Conductor Bell, who had charge of the train, stated today that in his opinion only four were lost. Said he:

"We were between Conemaugh and Johns town when the engineer saw the flood coming. He gave us word and we ran through the train and told the passengers to run to the moun-tains for their lives, but a prajority of them and remained in the cars, while the train men ran to the mountains. When the flood came it was lied away the cars next to the smoking car and left the others remaining. The people in the Pullman car were ducked, but none of them were otherwise injured. The three or four passengers who were lost were men, but I do not know their names.

Fifty men are digging graves on Prospect Hill and the bodies are being buried as fast as possible. Three hundred bodies were lying on the sand at Kernville, at the mouth of Sandy Creek, at 3 o'clock.

TWELVE THOUSAND DEAD.

As the Waters Recede, the Enormity of the Catastrophe is Shown.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.-A relief train from Pittsburg over the Baltimore and Ohio reached here at two o'clock this morning, after an exciting ride up the mountain. All along the road at each town contributions were made to the already well filled cars of provisions. McKeesport added two to the three laden from Pittsburg; two more were added at Braddock; three at West Newton and so on all the way to Johnstown, until when the latter was reached the train had ten loaded cars.

When Johnstown was reached everyone was anxious to get to work to assist in the work of rescue. A party was made up and started, for the lower part of the tow path was covered with trees, rocks, fences, parts of houses and every imaginable thing. Bureaus, beds, side-boards and furniture of all kinds were strewn from hill to hill. The whole valley of Stony creek, for miles up from Johnstown, is filled with debris of all kinds. The line of the Baltimore and Ohio has been cleared of debris, and is piled up on each side as high as the top of the cars. When the lower part of the town was reached, the scene presented

WAS REYOND DESCRIPTION
The half has not been told, nor never will be, as to the extent of the awful wreck. From the Pennsylvania railroad to Main street there is nothing standing but a stone church and a large brick school house. The Mansion house is gone, and over one hundred people were lost there. From the Baltimore and Ohio depot you can see for blocks in every direcion, and between the depot and the poin there is standing only a part of the Morrell block and two small brick offices that were protected by the Morrell building. The town was at rest early in the morning. Everyone was thoroughly exhausted with the terrific storm and the work of the last two days and nights. The town is under martial law, and veryone who goes about the place is challenged and required to give an account of himself. The water has subsided to a great extent, and the streets in main part of town are free from water. The falling water, has laid bare the terrible work of the flood, and the full extent of the disaster is only being ascer-tained now. The streets are one sickening, the work of searching for bodies has only

The latest estimates put the loss of life

AT FROM 10,000 TO 12,000. It is impossible to get any account of the number lost. Every one is so thoroughly tired out and overcome by the weight of the disaster as to be utterly unable to give any accurate details or figures. The work of identification of the dead goes on very slowly, and comparatively few so far have been identified. Among those who were identified today were Muns Wolf and wife, Mr. Goedbet, a merchant on more, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. J. Katerstein and son, who were visiting Mr. Bohm, father of Mrs. Katerstein. They were standing in Mr. Bohm's store, on Main street, and which was washed away before his eyes. The Hotel Holbert has been entirely washed away, and seventy-two persons perished in the wreck. Behind the Morrell property lies locomotive, which was carried over the bridge and swept up by the flood. Frank McDonald, a conductor on the Somer t branch of the Baltimore and Ohio. was at the Pennsylvania railroad depot when the flood came. He said when he first saw the flood it was thirty feet high and gradually

ROSE TO AT LEAST FORTY FERT. "There is no doubt that South Fork dam broke," said Mr. McDonald. "Fifteen minutes pefore the flood came, Mr. Decker, the Pennsylvania railroad agent, read me a telegram he had just received saying South Fork had broken. As soon as they heard this people in the station, numbering six hundred, made a rush for the hill. I certainly think I saw one thousand bodies go over the bridge. The first house that came down struck the bridge and at once took fire and as fast as the others came down they were consumed. I believe I am safe in saying I saw a thousand bodies burn. It reminded me of a lot of flies on fly paper, struggling to get away with no hope and no chance to save them. I have no idea that had the bridge been blown up the loss of life would have been any less. They would have floated a little further with the same certain death. Then again it was impossible for any one to have reached the bridge in order to blow it up, for the waters came so fast that no one could have done it. I saw fifteen to eighteen bodies go over the bridge at the same time. I offered a man $20 to row me across the river, but could get no one to go and I finally had to build a boat and get across that way.

THE DEAD IN HEAPS. From under a large brick school-house 124 bodies were taken last night and today, and in every corner and place bodies are being found and buried as fast as possible. The necessity for speedy burial is becoming manifest, and the stench arising from the bodies is sickening. A number of bodies have been found with bullet holes in them, showing conclusively that in their maddened fright suicide was resorted to by many.

AGONY STAMPED ON EVERY FACE. Up to this morning people living here who lost whole families and parts of families hardly seemed to realize what a dreadful calamity had befallen them. However, this morning people are getting to understand the situation and agony is stamped on the face of everyone, While the searchers were at workin Johns. and it is truly a city of mourning. LOOKS LIKE A MIRACLE.

A Church Destroyed, But a Statue Untouched by the Water. STOWN, June 3.—The miracle, as it is called, that happened at the Church of Immaculate Conception, has caused a tremendous sensation. A large number of persons will testify as to the nature of the event, and to put it mildly, the circumstances are really remarkable. Many devotions were in progress on Friday night when the water descended on Cambrid City. The church was filled with people at the time, but when the noise of the flood was heard, the congregation hastened to get out of the way. They succeeded as far as escaping from the interior is concerned, and in a few minutes the church was partially submerged, the water reaching fifteen feet up the ides and swirling around the corners furiously.

THE BUILDING WAS BADLY WRECKED, bench were torn out and the entire structure both inside and outside, was fairly dismantled. One article alone had escaped the water's wrath, that being a statue standing as firm as the day it was built. Marks on the walls showed that the surface of the water had risen to fifteen feet while the statue, which is only three fight high, had escaped all attack with the liquid. Its surroundings are firmly convincible as that of a miracle.

To even to the most skeptical, the affair savors of the supernatural. There are about thirty Catholic priests and nuns here. The sisters are devoting themselves to the care of the sick and injured in the hospitals, while priests are doing anything and everything and making themselves generally useful. Bishop Phelan, who reached here Sunday evening, returned to Piitsburg on the 3 o'clock train this afternoon. He has organized the Catholic forces in this neighborhood and all are devoting themselves to hard work assidiously. What the hospital would have done without the sisters is a difficult question. There are nine charity, seven Franciscan and seven Benedictine sisters.

THREE DAYS HAVE PASSED

And the Survivors are Beginnidg to Realize Johnstown, Pa., June 3.—The rope ferry is now being operated in the lower part of town. An effort is being made to construct a bridge across the Conemaugh at a point where the old country bridge stood. Three days have passed since the flood gates were opened, and the waters rushed down upon the mountain and city. Order is slowly arising out of the The survivors are slowly realizing what is the best course to pursue. The great cry is for men, men who will work and not stand by and do nothing but gaze at the ruins.

THE FOLLOWING ORDER
was posted on a telegraph pole in Johnstown today: Notice.—During the day men who have been idle have been begged to aid us in clearing the town, and many have refused to work. We are now so and many have reliesed to work. We are now so organized that employment can be found for every man who rants to work, and men offered work, who rather to take the same, and who are able to work, must leave Johstown for the present. We can't afford to feed those who will not work. All the work will be paid tor. Straugers and idlers who re use to work will be ejected from Johnstown.

If an affirmative answer is given, the man, escorts him to the employment bureau, where he is put 40 work. If not he is turned back. The committee has driven one or two men out of town. There is a lot of idle vagabond negroes in Johnstown who will not work. It is likely that the committee will escort them out of town. They have caused escort them out of town. They have caused most trouble during the past terrible days. It is a fact, although a disagreeable one, to say that not a few of the relief committee who came to this city, came only out of curiosity, and positively refused to do any work, but would much credit.

An old man sat in a chair, placed on a box, at the intersection of two streets in Johns-An old man sat in a chair, placed on a box, at the intersection of two streets in Johnstown, and begged for men. "For God's sake," he said, "can we not find men? Will not some of you men help? Look at those men who have not slept for three days,, and are dropping with fatigue. We will pay well. For God's sake help us."

Tears rolled down his cheeks as he spoke. Then he would threaten the group of idlers standing by, and again plead with them.

A DRY RESERVOIR.

A Visit to the Broken Dam-A Description

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—Several Pittsburgers, relatives of South Fork fishing club. which owned the reservoir that caused the disaster, made their way with extreme diffi ed the culty to the reservoir, and have just returned here. One of these, Harry Singer, tells the following story: The lake is completely dried out. The dam broke in the center at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, and at 4 o'clock it was dry, That great body of water passed out in one our. Messrs. Park & Van Buren, who were building new draining system at the lake, tried to avert the disaster by digging a sluiceway on one side to ease the pressure on the dam. They had about forty men at work and did all they could without avail. The water passed over the dam about a foot above its top, beginning at about half-past 2 o'clock. Whatever happened in the way of a cloudburst took place during Thursday night. There had been but little rain up to dark. When the workmen woke Friday morning the lake was very ull, and rising at the rate of a foot an hour. It kept on rising until 2 o'clock, when it first began breaking over the dam, and undermining it. Men were sent three or four times during the day to warn the people below of When the final break came, at 3 o'clock, there was a sound like tremendous and continued peals of thunder. Trees, rocks and earth

SHOT UP INTO MID-AIR IN GREAT COLUMNS, and then started down the ravine. A farmer who escaped said the water did not come down like a wave, but jumped on his house and beat like a wave, but jumped on his house and oear it to fragments in an instant. He was safe on the hillside, but his wife and two children were killed. At the present time the lake looks like a cross between the crater of a volcano and a huge mud-puddle with the stumps of trees and rocks scattered over it. There is asmall stream of muddy water running through the center of the lake site. The break in the dam is about two hundred feet wide, and there is but a small portion of embankment on either side.

THE DAZED CONDITION

Of the People After Their Great Calamity. Johnstown, Pa., June 3.-The sad and gloomy sky, almost as sad and gloomy as the human faces under, shrouded Johnstown to-day. Rain fell all day, and added to the miseries of the wretched people. The great plain where the best part of Johnstown used to stand is half covered with water. The few sidewalks, in part, that escaped the flood were inches thick with black, sticky mud, through which tramped a steady procession of

R WOMEN WHO ARE LEFT UTTERLY DES-TITUTE.

The tents where people are housed who cannot get other shelter were cold and cheeress. The town seemed like a great tomb. The people of Johnstown have supped so full of horrors that they go about in a sort of daze, and only half conscious of their griefs. Every hour, as one goes through the streets, he hears neighbors greet each other, and inquiring, without show of feeling, how many each had lost in his family, Today I heard a gray-haired man hail another across the street with these remarks:

"I lost five. All are gone but Mary and I." "I am worse off than that," said the first old gentleman. "I have only my grandson

And so they passed on without apparent excitement. They and everyone else had heard so much of these melancholy conversations, that somehow the calamity had lost its signifi-cance to them. They treat it exactly as if the dead persons had gone away, and were coming back in a week. The melancholv task of searching the ruins for more bodies went on today in the rain. There were little crowds of

MORBID CURIOSITY HUNTERS around each knot of working men, but they were not residents of Johnstown. All their curiosity in that direction was satiated long ago. Even those who came in from the neighboring towns with the idea of a day's strange and ghastly experience, did not care to be near, after they had seen one body exhumed. There were hundreds and thousands of these visitors from the country today. The effect of the dreadful things they saw and heard was to drive a lot of them to drink. By oon the streets were beginning to be full of boisterous and noisy country men, who were trying to conteract the strain on their erv es with unnatural excitement. The police, foreseeing the unseemly sights that were likely to disgrace the streets, drove out and kept out all visitors who had not some good reason for their presence. After that, and far into the evening, all the country roads were filled with drunken stragglers, who were trying to forget what they

One thing that makes the work of searching for the bodies very slow is the strange way that great masses of objects were rolled into intricate masses of rubbish. As the flood came down the valley of South Fork it obliterated the suburb of Woodvale, where

NOT A HOUSE WAS LEFT, nor a trace of one. The material they had contained rolled on down the valley over and over, grinding it up to pulp, and finally leaving it against an unusually firm founda-tion or an eddy. The masses contain human bodies, but it is slow work to peck them to pieces. Inside of one of them today I saw the remnants of a carriage, the body of a harnessed horse, a baby cradle and a doll, a tress of a woman's hair, a rocking horse and a piece of beefsteak still hanging to the hook.

THE TOWN WELL PATROLLED. The city is now very much better patrolled than it has been at any time since the flood occurred. Many members of the police force of Pittsburg came on and offered their services. One of them showed his spirit during the first hour by striking a man whom he saw opening a trunk among the rubbish, a tremendous blow over the head which knocked him senseless. Several big trunks and safes lie in full sight on the desolate plain in the lower part of town, but none dared to touch them after that.

The Pan Handle Railroad company have a hot of cars, about ten in number, lying between Morrellville and Johnstown, which are fitted up with stoves and cooking utensils, in charge of a lot of railroad men, who are giving eata-bles to hundreds of families.

THE SITUATION AT KERNVILLE.

Not Enough Living to Bury the Dead-The Hungarlan's Crime. Johnstown, Pa., June 3.—Kernville is in a leplorable condition. The living are unable to take care of the dead. A majority of the inhabitants of the town were drowned. A building of boards has been erected on the only street remaining in Cambria. This is headquarters for the committee that controls the dead. As quickly as the dead are brought here they are placed in boxes and then taken to the cemetery and buried. A supply store has been opened in town. A milk man, who was overcharging for milk this morning. narrowly escaped lynching. An infuriated man appropriated all his milk and distributed it among the poor and then drove him out of

in an orchard last night was removed by his friends. The inhuman monster had cut off four fingers of the right hand of a woman. He was noticed before he escaped, and dropped the fingers into his pocket, where they were found when he was captured. The act maddened the men, and they took him to an orchard on the hillside and hung him. About one hundred and fifty houses are standing where once there stood a thousand. None of the large buildings in what was once a thriving little borough, escaped. A thousand at least is the number of lives lost. A walk town revealed a desolate Only about twenty-five able bodied men have survived and are able to render any assistance. A man is now in the temporary jail, in what is left of Johnstown. He was caught stealing a gold watch. A shot was fired at him, but he was not wounded, The only thing that saved him from lynching was the smallness of the crowd. His sentence was the smallness of the crowd. His sentence will be the heaviest that can be given him. The executive of the commonwealth of Peunsyle vania has refrained hitherto from making an appeal to the people for their benefit in order that he might receive definite and reliable information from the centers of disaster during the late floods which have been unprecedented in the history of the nation.

Communication by wire has been established with Johstown today. The civil authorities are in control, the addition general of state on operating. with Jostown today. The civil authorities are in control, the adjutant general of state co-operating with them. Order has been restored, and is likely to continue. Newspaper reports as to the loss of life and property have not been exaggerated. The Valley of Conemaugh, which is peculiar, has been swept from one end to the other as with destruction. It contained a population of 40,000 to 50,000 people, living for the most part, along the banks of the small river, confined within narrow limits. The most conservative estimates place the loss of life at about ten thousands human beings and of property at $25,000,000. Whole towns have been utterly dostroyed; not a vestige remains. In the more substantial towns the better buildings to a certain extent remain, but in a damaged condition. Those who are least able to bear it have suffered the loss of everything. The most pressing needs so far as food is concerned, have been supplied. Shoes and clothing of all sorts for men, women and children are greatly needed. Money is also urgently required to remove the debris, bury dead, provide temporarily for the widows and orphans and for the homelets generally. Other localities have suffered to some extent in the same way, but in a lead ogree.

The reports indicate there is a great loss of life. The reports indicate there is a great loss of life and destruction of property on the west bank of the Susquehanna and in localities from which we can get no definite information. What does come, however, is of the most appalling character and it is expected the details will add new horrors to the situation. The responses from within and without the state have been most generous and cheering. North, south, east and west from the United States and from England that comes the same hearty senand from England that comes the same hearty, generous response of sympathy and help. The president, governors of states, mayors of cities, individuals, and communities, private and municipal corporations seem to vie with each other in their expressions of sympathy and in their contributions of substantial side.

contributions of substantial aid. But, gratifying as their responses are, there is no danger of their exceeding the necessities of the sit-uation. A careful organization has been made upon the ground for the distribution of whatever assistance is furnished in kind. The adjutant-general of state is there as representative of the state authorities, and is giving personal attention in connection with Chief Burges, of Johnstown, and a committee of relief to distribute what is furnished. Funds contributed in aid of the sufferers can be deposited with Drexel & Co., Philadsliphia; Jacob E. Bomberger, banker, Harrisburg, or William R. Thompson & Co., bankers, Pittsburg. All money contributed will be used carefully and judiciously the ground for the distribution of whatever assist contributed wil be used carefully and judiciously contributed wil be used carefully and judiciously until the present wants are fairly met. A large force will be employed at once to remove the debris and bury the dead, so as to avoid disease and epidemic. The people of the commonwealth and others whose unselfish generosity is hereby appreciated, and acknowledged, may be assured that their contributions will be faithfully husbanded and judiciously expanded and every effort possible will be made to bring them to the immediate and direct relief of those whose benefit it is intended.

Liberal Subscriptions From Philadelphia and Elsewhere.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.-In pursuance of a call, issued by the Citizens' Permanent Reliet association, a largely attended meeting of citizens was held at the mayor's office today for the consideration of measures for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers. Generous contributions were announced. A committee was ap-pointed to select sub-committees from the various trades to solicit subscriptions; a committee was appointed to visit Johnstown and report, and other measures were adopted look-ing to the furtherance of the object in view. Drexel & Co. were chosen as treasurers of the fund. The firm of Drexel & Co. started the fund with a contribution of $10,000. Several subscriptions of $5,000 each were announced. and late this afternoon the fund had reached a total of $45,000. Many subscriptions were also sent direct to Drexel & Co.'s banking house, including $10,000 from the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company; $5,000 from the Philadelphia beer brewers; $5,000 from the Baldwin Locomotive works, and other large individual contributions. Up to this evening, direct subscriptions to Drexel & Co. amounted to $103,705, making the total of the two funds of over $148,000. This is exclusive of the Pennsylvania railroad company's subscription of $25,000 and that of the Cambria Iron company of $20,000, which amount will be dis-pensed at Johnstown and vicinity by officials of those corporations. The Maritime grocers and commercial exchanges have also appointed committees to solicit and take charge of the subscriptions for the sufferers. Large quan-ties of provisions, clothing, etc., have been contributed and will be forwarded to Johnstown as quickly as possible. BIG SUMS IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 3 .- Mayor Grant sent out invitations to 250 gentlemen to meet him in consultation about relief for Johnstown. Among the invitations sent out was one addressed to ex-President Cleveland, which gentleman, it is believed, will be made chairman of the committee. It took but a few moments for the committee to subscribe nearly $55,000 for the sufferers by the flood in Conemaugh valley. The contributions by the Maritime exchange today were about $35,000. Isidore Wormser announced that the stock exchange had raised $15,000 in a few moments today. Alexander E. Orr announced that his exchange had

PATROLMEN WILL BE MORE CARE-FUL WITH THEIR CLUBS.

Witnesses Testify on Both Sides and the Officer Who Struck Chief Joyner is Decided Incompetent-E. J. Looney Elected to Fill His Place.

The board of police commissioners met last The session was not a very lengthy one, lasting only two hours. But during that time the board transacted enough business to last the average policeman a lifetime. Patrolman Stamps was arraigned for striking Chief Joyner with his club on the night of May 28th, when the first Pompeii show came off. The story of the affair has been printed. The result of the trial was anticipated, and everybody seemed to know, by some intuition, what would be the result.

tion, what would be the result.

The commission met promptly at eight o'clock, and there was a full attendance of the board. The case was called and in substance, Chief W. R. Joyner said: "On last Tuesday night I was at the Pompeii show with my family, and coming out I found a great rush, as is usual in such cases. I had the four ladies and little boy in front of me, and had my arms around then, so far as I could, to protect them from the crush. I remonstrated with the crowd to try to them back, and another man took up the word and tried to keep the crowd from rushing. As I neared the entrance I saw a policeman waving his club, and he came near touching my wife, who is not tall, and I saw that he did not see her, and in the fearful jam I reached upward

I made a grab for his club and found that it was fastened to for his citio and found that it was fastened to his wrist by a leather string, and I then felt in my pocket for my knife, and found that I did not have it. Several policemen caught me and brought me out, and one of them said, 'Great God! what did he hit you for?' Citizens crowded around, but in the excitement that succeeded, I attended to the ladies, who were very nervous and say two of them off on

Since the occurrence, Mr. Stamps has seen me and told me that in Mr. Stamps has seen me and told me that in the excitement, seeing me with my arms around the ladies, he thought that I was trying to rush ever the ladies. Raising my arm as I did, he says that he thought that I was trying to force my way out, and that was why he struck me."

Mr. Stamps hasked: "Did not your wife come very near falling just about that time?"

"No," answered Mr. Joyner, "she might have staggered, for I had frequently to brace myself against the crowd, and might have myself against the crowd, and might have pushed her slightly forward in the rush." Mr. Campbell and Mr. Kay were examined, but nothing of special interest was evolved, except that the gate was very narrow, and the rush was terribly great, so that no one had time to recognise another in the crush of the

In answer to a question from Chairman English, Officer Smith said that he had never had any instructions from the chief er superior officers of the force in regard to using their Captain Couch was sworn, and said that he had no trouble at the big gate. Finding Officer Stamps on duty Captain Couch said that he might have put Officer Stamps on duty, but that he found afterwards that Chief Councily had put Stamps on duty at the gate. Chief Connolly corroborated this testmony, and neither officer had given the patrolmen any instructions as to using their clubs.

Mr. Hudson was examined and said that he was in four or five steps of Officer Stamps, who was begging the people to stand back. There were two streams of people trying to rush out, and it looked as if some one would get hurt. He saw a man raise his arm right under the officer's club, and then he saw and heard the blow. Witness thought from the appearance of the rush, that if he had been put there to defend the women and children, he would have feit justified in useing the he would have feit justified in useing the club. Captain Couch was recalled, and in answer to the question as to what instructions had been given the patrolnien by blim, he said that he had instructed them to keep watch and not to allow the women and children to be tranled, and to preserve order.

Patroiman Stamps then made a statement. He explained that he had been put under orders by Captain Couch, being an extra man, orders by Captain Couch, being an extra man, at one gate, and was afterwards sent to the reserve gate by Chief Connolly. After awhile Captain Couch came along and told him to watch the reserve gate, and whatever he did to not allow the crowd to rush over and impose upon the women and children. He tried his best to observe the instructions, and when he saw the lady come near falling at the gate, he threw uphis left arm and struck the blow with his club. He afterwards found out that the lady was the wife of Chief Joyner, whom he was trying to protect; and that at the time he struck he had no idea who the man was whom he clubbed. He was simply endeavoring to keep order, and to protect the ladies and children, as he had been instructed to do by his superior officers. A new pistol belt was presented to the board A new pistol belt was presented to the board for consideration. It was explained that carrying the pistol in the belt would do in the winter, but during the summer the pistols were being ruined by being carried in the pocket.

Like the New York aldermen who wanted to stoke Central park by propagation the to stock Central park by propagation, the commission becided that there was no neces-

IN THE COURTS.

The case of the state against the Georgia Railway and Banking company was given to the jury yesterday afternoon at the hour of adjournment. The case has been on trial in the superior court, before Judge Marshall J. Clarke, since last Wednesday, and the argument on both sides has been elaborate and exhaustive.

Attorney-General Clifford Anderson, Hon. N. J. Hammond and W. J. Speer conducted the argument for the state, and Hon. George Hillyer appeared for the railroad company. This case is one of the oldest and most complicated now in the courts. It has been tried three times previous to that concluded yesterday. Twice a new trial was granted and the third time a mistrial was declared. Twenty years have elapsed since the breach of contract, upon which the case is based, was committed, and eighteen years have passed since suit was first instituted. RAILROADS HARD AT WORK

Repairing the Damages Inflicted by the Storm.

RICHMOND, Va., June 3.—No mails have been received here from the north of Washington since Friday. The Richmond nd Danville railroad, south, is all right again, trains running on schedule time. The steamer "Old Dominion," is at City Point waiting for the water to subside. She is expected here tonight. The steamer Ariel has been lying at City Point since Saturday. She is expected here tomorrow. There is a big break at the fifth mile locks; another at Dover mills, and another at Gallator, above Lynchburg. Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad is badly damaged at various points. The Hazel Run iron bridge is down. The telegraph line is open as far north as Quantico, and the work of repairing the breaks is being pushed. Officials were unable to say today when the road will be open for travel. The break between Richmond and Hanover Junction is expected to be repaired and trains running to that point by tomorrow evening. Passengers on the train which left Friday evening and was caught at Fredericksburg were sent north was caught at Fredericksburg were sent north

An Appeal to the President. PITTSBURG, June 3.-The Masonic fraternity met this morning and received reports from the committee sent to Johnstown. The chief point was the terrible sanitary condition. A mmittee was appointed to ask the United States government to take action at once. This committee telegraphed President Harrison asking him to send out a sanitary commission nmediately, and warning him that unles prompt action was taken to remove the dead odies and animals from any stream in which the Conemaugh empties, the water would be polluted and carry plague germs to the people. This would affect the country from Pittsburg to New Orleans. Like mes-sages were sent to the Pennsylvania senators.

Charleston Subscribing. Charleston, S. C., June 3.—The Merchants' exchange collected $300 for the Pennsylvania sufferers today, and have hardly began the canvast for subscription. The chamber of commerce will meet tomorrow to raise funds. The citizens generally will subscribe as soon as the list is opened.

THE INDIANA CONFLICT. The Republicans of the State Splitting Into

Factions. Washington, June 3.—[Special.]—What promises to add picturesqueness to the growing plit among the Indiana republicans is the conflicting ambitions of United States Treasurer Huston and J. D. Michener. Huston is very much disappointed with his office as treasurer, and has intimated a willingness to relinquish it. He finds the work monotonous, the responsibility great, little or no patronage to dispense, and with little prestige attached thereto. As there is nothing of equal importance remaining at the presiportance remaining at president's disposal, Huston has fixed his Voorhees's seat in the United States senate. The term of the senator expires in 1891. Of course it will be necessary to carry the Indiana legislature in 1890 to bring all this about, but it is assumed that enough blocks of it will be around to accomplish this result. Now Michener, since he failed to break into Harrifon's cabiand has expected the meral support of the administration. A few days ago Huston hastened to Indiana, and circulated the report among his friends that the administration among his friends that the administration would support him and not Michener. The latter's friends have sailed down on Washington, and demanded a denial from the white house, promising a good fight if they do not get

PARSONS WINS THE PRIZE.

Judge Craig, of Alabama, Left Out in the Cold.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—There is high indignation among some of the Alabama crowd at the appointment of Lewis F. Parsons, Jr., of Birmingham, to be district attorney. Parsons was prime mover in the white league movement in the state last winter. It is taken to mean that the president intends to recognize white men only, and that no colored people need apply. Judge Craig, who was promised white men only, and that no colored people need apply. Judge Craig, who was promised the place by the atterney general, but revoked by the president, has gone home in anything but a pleasant humor. He was not so much displeased at being defeated, but in the man ner in which he was treated by the president. Craig has many friends in the state, who are, one and all, down on the administration with a vengence. Some of them threaten to bolt, though Craig and Judge McDuffy will not allow it if possible. Craig was indorsed by McDuffy, and as the latter has made two races for congress in the black district, and followed with contest each time, it was not pleasing to him to have Parsons, who is charged with having shirked politically, appointed over his friend Craig. Craig, it will be remembered, successfully contested the seat of General Shelly in the forty-seventh congress. Craig and McDuffle have done a great deal of political work for their party in the state, and the appointment of Parsons is taken by their friends to mean that the president does not want to recognize their efforts. Craig was appointed district attorney by Arthur, but deposed by Cleveland. He wanted again to be nominated, but there was no vindication for Craig. Preference is to be given in recent or dangerous cases. Bibb county is well represented at the asylum and almost every week a lunatic is sent over. This afternoon week a lunatic is sent over. This afternoon Coroner Henderson empaneled a jury to try the lunacy of Alexander McKinnon. Whether or not he will be admitted to the asylum emains to be seen.

DEATH OF DR. MORGAN.

Of Washington, Father-in-Law of Judge Emory Speer. Emory Speer.

Macon, Ga., June 3.—[Special.]—Dr. James Ethelbert Morgan, of Washington city, the father of Mrs. Emory Speer and Mr. Cocil Morgan, of Macon, died yesterday morning at his residence in the Capital city. Dr. Morgan was a man of great distinction. By a large practice of nearly fifty years amid the representative nonpulsiting which assemble and live sentative population which assemble and live at the capital of the great republic, he not only sentative population which assemble and five at the capital of the great republic, he not only acquired great reputation as a physician and surgeon but amassed a large fortune. He was a member of an old and distinguished family of Mayland. His father was an officer in the American forces in the war of 1812. His mother was a Miss Cecil of the American branch of the illustrious English family of that name. He was educated at the famous Jesuit college at Frederick, Maryland, and for many years was the leading professor of medicine in the college of the same society at Georgetown. Dr.; Morgan married Miss Nora Digges, a daughter of Dudley Digges, of Greenhill Manor, near Washington. Mrs. Morgan is a a granddaughter of Daniel Carroll, of Dudington, one of the beautiful colonial homes erected along the Potomac. The manor house until two years ago stood in perfect preservation near the capital and the city of Washington occupies the whole of the one beautiful plantation which lay between the Potomac and the eastern branch.

The family, in all its branches, have ever

Macon, Ga., June 3.—[Special.]—Judge Emory Speer asks The Constitution's correspondent to state for him that the "local republican" who says he has prevented Colonel Locke from obtaining a government position, is entirely mistaken, and wishes it denied in the most positive manner that he ever prevented or attempted to prevent Colonel Locke from getting a position. Judge Speer says it is utterly untrue. He says no syllable upon the subject has been expressed in any manner by him, or by his authority. He farther says: "I am taking no part whatever in political by him, or by his authority. He latther says: "I am taking no part whatever in political matters, and have repeatedly declared it to be, in my judgment, wholly improper for one in my position to do so."

TOM WOOLFOLK.

THE CASE OPENS UP LIVELY IN

Colonel Rutherford Makes An Attack on Judge Gustin's Qualification-The Pro-bability That the Trial Will Not Com-

Off. FORT VALLEY, Ga., June 3 .- [Special.] -Your correspondent has a full stenographic report of to-day's proceedings in the beginning of Woolfolk's trial. There seems in one sense of the word but little in them. The jury has not been obtained yet, and Judge Gustin has ordered the summoning of one hundred talles jurors to make up the jury.

The main point of today's business seems to be Rutherford's attempt to disqualify Judge Gustin on account of his being associated with J. H. Hall, under the firm name of Gustin & Hall, at the time of the tragedy, and when Charles Howard consulted this firm regarding the taking out of letters of administration on the estate of Mrs. Woolfolk. Hall said Gustin never consulted with Howard. At the time Howard came to the office to see Gustin and Hall, Gustin was at home sick in bed, and knew nothing of this application. The question which arises among people is, how is Judge Gustin going to prove this assertion, as while he was sick he says the firm of Gustin & Hall was dissolved, and he was appointed judge of the Macon circuit. This assertion seems strange to many of our people. If Gustin was sick and before he was well, how could the firm of Gustin & Hall be dissolved. Hall made an eloquent appeal against the motion, at the conclusion of which, Judge Gustin overruled the motion, and all of Ruthersford's remarks and points were wasted Judge Gustin said he would be glad if he was disqualified in this case but that he had thought about it considerably and could not say he was disqualified.

Colonel Rutherford said he desired to submit a change of venue of county from Bibb to some other county, save Houston. The motion was submitted, and as usual overruled.

The witnesses for the defense was then called. Not more than a dozen answered. They have about fifty. answered. Rutherford then asked the court to adjourn until after dinner. Then he hope some of his witnesses would come down on the morning train. After drawing 100 tales jurors court adjourned until 2 o'clock. It will be determined this afternoon whether or not the trial will come off. It is impossible to tell now. The impression is that Rutherford will lisqualify Gustin, and all this trouble will fall heavy on the farmers and business men generally of Houston. The case is not now expected to come up in Houston, owing to Rutherford's stand as to Judge Gustin's disqualifi-

CHARLIE COOPER IN LIMBO.

The Murderer of Sam Alexander Will Hav to Face the Music.

MONROE, Ga., June 3 .- [Special.] - Deputy Sheriff W. J. Smith returned from Asheville N. C., last Saturday, bringing with him Bud Cooper, colored, who is indicted for murder. In a riot some six months ago Sam Alexander, colored, was killed, and Cooper is charged with the murder. Our sheriff dld a fine piece of detective work in catching this criminal detective work in catching this criminal.

The News says that this capture is a very important one indeed, not only on account of bringing Cooper to trial, but because he has been such a wary and troublesome criminal to keep "spotted." A letter from the sheriff of Buncombe county, received by Sheriff Knight Tucsday at noon, notified him that Cooper was in Asheville jail; that he answered the description perfectly besides name, and had named the other negroes who were in the riot with him, but claimed he was only charged with riot instead of murder. Deputy Sheriff Smith left for Atlasita bearing an application for a requisition from Governor Gerdon, expecting to procure his commission and go on to Asheville and await the requisition papers. He also telegraphed Sheriff Reynolds to hold Cooper. This is the second requisition that has been telegraphed Sheriff Reynolds to hold Cooper-This is the second requisition that has been issued for Cooper. He first went to Alabama and our officers kept track of him for some time, and procured a requisition, but the Alabama officers let him etude them. Sheriff Knight managed to shadow his movements up the Air-Line road and then traced him into Buncombe county, North Carolina. He con-ducted a correspondence with the North Caro-lina sheriff by registered letters with the lina sheriff by registered letters with the result already mentioned.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION $2 A YEAR. SENT TO ANY ADDRESS !

ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 4, 1889.

The Floods of the Future. The Conemaugh valley disaster must not be viewed simply as a calamity. It is a warning. When boats navigate Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, and carp invade the houses of that city, we see the shadows of coming events-something even worse than the Johnstown horror.

We have more than once pointed out in these columns the probable consequences of the floods that will visit this country in future. The destruction of our forests will make the cloud-burst as familiar to us as the tornado is to the dwellers on our western plains. Von Bebber, in his work on "The Influence of Forest Growth on Climate," says: "The old experience that the destruction of woods accentuates climatic extremes, and more especially enhances the danger of floods, has not thus far been contradicted. Nay, it receives calamitous confirmation in the disasters which, in the South Tyrol, for example, recur so frequently, and which it is vainly sought to prevent by artificial works."

We are energetically setting in motion the very machinery that must necessarily increase the area and the destructive power of these tremendous floods.

Warnings we have had in abundance, but we take no thought of the morrow. We read of half a million lives lost by the overflow of Yellow river in China, and smile when the comforting thought occurs to us that it is on the other side of the world. We hear of the cloud-burst in the south of France after that region was stripped of its timber-cloud-bursts which turn cow-paths into raging torrents and sweep away houses, cattle, and human beings. But all this, we say, is in France. The awful warning comes nearer, and in a deadlier shape, from time to time, until we have its breathless culmination and climax at Johnstown.

The thoughtful observer who has watched these events, studied their lessons, and looked ahead into the future, can come to but one conclusion. A century hence Macaulay's New Zealander may not be here to shake his wooly head over our ruins, but the scientific and progressive American of that day will have many strange chapters of history to relate. He will tell his children the story of our scores of dead cities that went down in the black night of a mighty deluge. He will describe the destruction of Washington, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis and New Orleans. In Georgia and Tennessee he will name the cities of-but this comes too near home to be calmly discussed, and predictions would not be relished by any of us. How to Obtain Pure Water. Impure water is only too common, and perhaps none is entirely pure.

The water we drink sometimes carries contagion with it. Typhoid fever, instance, comes to us in that way.

There are two good ways of purifying water. One is to filter it, and the other is to boil it. Filters may be had in almost. every shape, from the simplest and most inexpensive up to the most complex and costly. People who cannot afford the filters of porcelain and baked clay, shoul! make a bag of severak layers of flannel and fill it with charcoal. These cheap filters will answer every purpose.

If we would boil our drinking water for thirty minutes all the bacteria would be killed. The Chinese do this, and rarely suffer from typhoid and other communi cable fevers. This method is better than filtering.

With a little care, with filters kept clean, or with boiled water, there is no reason why people in any part of the country should suffer from impure drinking water.

Turning Things to the Best Account. Some years ago Judge Trippe built near the depot in Forsyth a brick warehouse one hundred and twenty-five feet long and one hundred feet wide, at a cost of $8,000. For some reason it was not a profitable investment, and was sold to the Ponder brothers and Mr. Ensign for $2,500. These gentlemen put in windows, heavy sleepers and a double floor, and they are now placing in the building three thousand spindles and the machinery to drive them. Within a few weeks a cotton mill will be running in Judge Trippe's warehouse, and there is little doubt that it will pay a bandsome interest on the investment. There are factories not a great distance from it which have never paid less than eighteen per cent on their capital.

Here is a suggestion of great value worked out. As towns grow they readjust themselves. Some department of business is overdone and the investments bring little return. Convert the property into another form and, presto, change, it is a bonanza.

What Will They Do Then?

There is more building in Atlanta today than at any time in our history. Men who have lived here for twenty-three years de clare they never saw the like.

That is very gratifying. But what is to become of the vast army of carpenters and masons and painters when the building boom is over and winter has come? Wh will fill the houses they now occupy, when they are out of work and are seeking work elsewhere? Thinking about this brings us back to the point, from which no thoughtful friend of Atlanta ever strays-"We must have

A new factory for one hundred hands means permanent tenants for perhaps fifty houses. It means permanent customers for the grocar, the furniture men, the clothiers | together by a particularly quiet marriage, are generally most talked about.

and the dry goods men! We must have more factories, or we will simply overbuild and soon have empty houses staring at us from every street!

This building boom is an admirable thing. The best thing about it is that the most of the houses are homes being built for men who have saved money from their daily earnings. But the building of houses alone will not maintain a city, much less give it further growth!

We must have factories and shops! They are the basis of things. They mean more stores, more houses, more trade, more merchants, more everything! The way to get more shops and factories in Atlanta is to join the Chamber of Commerce Investment company, and thus make possible a concerted effort to induce prospectors, and to offer them substantial help when they get here! Send in your name and subscription today, or we shall see our building boom overreach itself, and work to our disadvantage rather thav to our glory!

Some northern artist ought to go down to Washington, in Wilkes county, and depict some of the fine old mansions to be found there. The magazines, in printing southern tories, need these old houses in their business They are very fine and very picturesque, and Washington is probably the only southern town where they can be found.

THE south has, thus far this season, been spared the visitation of storms, cyclones and floods. Apparently the south has been blessed by Providence, Sectionalism aside, it is great and glorious part of the union.

THE SOCIAL WORLD. MR. J. K. OHL AND MISS MAUD ANNU-LET ANDREWS MARRIED

everal Notable Weddings Follow in Quick Succession-The Social Events of the Day Gathered and Presented to the Constitu tion Readers.

It is a singular (and also a somewhat doubleou) fact that the first marriage to occur in the eautiful little Episcopal church at Washington, in his state, should have been that of two Constituon writers-Mr. J. K. Ohi and Miss Maude Annut Andrews. This marriage results in a happy unification of two of the cleve est writers on the paper. Mr. Ohl has or a long time been the city editor, and Miss Anrews has had charge of the society column, giving rattention also to special work that has been very attractive feature of the paper.

The wedding occurred yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, and was witnessed by a large number of Miss Andrews's friends. The little church was filled, and the impressive Episopal ceremony was never more impressively rendered than by the rector, Dr. Turner, who united them.

The building was most beautifully and effectively decorated with nowers, ferns and evergreens. All he little children of the beautiful town of the little children of the beautiful town of Washington turned out to aid in making the decorions as elaborate as possible, and the result was tions as elaborate as possible, and the result was all that could have been expected from the taste and refinement of a community that is, one of the most refined to be found in the country.

There were a great many beautiful presents displayed at the old home of the bride—some rare old silverware, and a great many things possessing both beauty and utility.

The wedding is supposed to have been a very quiet one and yet all the good people of Washington as one, and yet all the good people of Washington, as well as a great many people of Atlanta, were interested in the matter, and the happiness of the handsome and talented young coupe will be prayed for by all who know them, and by a great many who by all who know them, and by a great many who know of them only through these columns.

After the marriage there was a recoption at the handsome residence of Mr. Theodric Green, and when the young couple left, an old shoe was flung after them, and rice was scattered over them by the beautiful little children of Mrs. Julia Toombs.

The happy couple reached Atlanta yesterday at 1 o'clock, and left immediately for the north. Their tour will include a visit to Mr. Ohl's home in Ohlo. Quite a romantic mayriage occurred last evening at the residence of Rev. Virgil Norcross, in West End. The contracting parties were Mr. Fred L. Allen and Miss. Lizzie A. Welch, both of this city. The marriage will be quite a surprise to the friends and relatives of both bride and groom, as nobody has known of their attachment. Both of the young people have been connected with the ousiness department of THE CONSTITUTION, and vere thrown together a great deal, but no one pected that they were looking upon each other with

Last evening Miss Welch went home as usual, and later Mr. Allen called, ostensibly to escort her to see the "Lest Days of Pompeil." But instead they went quietly to West End, where they were joined in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Norcross, Mr. and Mrs. Allen will leave today for a tour of the principal northern and eastern cities. Alex Henderson Tells the Whole Story of His Terrible Crime.

PAINBRIDGE, Ga., June 3.—[Special.]—Alex Henderson will be hanged on the 14th of June without doubt. He has removed all that by a confession made to a reporter of the Democrat. His story was as follows:

THE FIRST FUSS.
"The first fuss we had was about an ax I found in the Oil Still springs, which Amos claimed to have loaned to Arnett, who lost it there He got a warrant for me for stealing it, who He got a warrant for me for stealing it, which however was settled; but my wife told him I said I was going to kill him, (s) was the cause of all the trouble) wheretpen he got another warrant upon which I was arrested and held by Mr. Jesse Thursby, and that night I got away, but afterwards returned and settled the warrant by paying Amos for the ax through Mr. Jake Harrell. After this we were barely on speaking terms. I would often hear of his threats to take a warrant for me about a woman whom I bad often visited.

"Silas Smith told me on Friday night Amos had got Mr. O'Neal to take another warrant for me. This so enraged me that I by down to Amos was going to town next day. He did not know. This is all I said to Mr. Hadden, and the rest of his evidence is untrue. I left

He came.

"I told him I came to buy twenty-five cents worth of fish, which he said he would let me worth of fish, which he said he would let me have after he went to and returned from his fish basket. As he started off I intended to shoot him, but his little girl's presence stopped me. After he returned and was stringing his fish and started to hand them to me, he asked why did I tell Mr. Jake Harrell I did not intend paying him for the meat and meal I bought of him. My reply was that he had gotten money from me unjustly (referring to set. ten money from me unjustly (referring to set-tlement of ax) and that I didn't expect to pay him. He, Amos, at once flew into a passion, and said, cursing me, that if I did not do it I and said, cursing me, that if I did not do it I would pay that or more as soon as he Ames, got to town. New Orleans Wins a Game From Memphis-The Game in Charleston Proves an Interesting One Throughout.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 3 .- [Special. :-There was but one opinion of the 3,000 people who visited the game this afternoon between Atlanta and Charleston. There have been more scientific games seen on the diamond here, but a more ex ling, a more stubbornly fought battle, and a more ex-lorious victory, was never fought and won.

It was great ball and a heap of it.

The grand stand fairly stood upon its ears, while the bleaching boards danced a war dance. Ladies stood upon their seats and waved their dainty lace kerchiefs to encourage their favorites. The story would be too long to telegraph. It was a battle from the start to the fluish. In the first inning the Atlantasigot their eyes on the ball and batted out six runs, after whitewashing the locals, then At-lanta rested. In the third Charleston broke the ice and put in one run. In the fifth another run was added to the score, and in the seventh three more, making the total 5 to 6. Both sides rested through the eighth inning. In the ninth Charles on, en-couraged by the plaudits of the audience, which ratified Pendera little, batted out four runs and ook the lead. When the Atlantas came to the hat hey faced 3,000 people wild with excitement, but hey stood up like little men. Kingsley, Shea and wse rapped the ball rapidly in sufor a single, and filled the bases. Hoeneman rap-ped out a three bagger and brought all three home, tieing the score. Then the great Quinn took up the rillow, bunted a ball, and brought Hoenema home, winning the game almost before the crowd had time to grasp the situation. It was a splendid fight and a glorious victory. Following is the

He depends upon a straight, hard ball, with very little variation, and was lined out often. Good backing up kept Memphis from running away with the game. Banswine, on the contrary, was not hit much but rotten errors allowed New Orleans to keep apace. It was a tie when the ninth inning started, and Ward got a lead for New Orleans on ruso's fumble, a wild pitch, a steal, and a missed third strike. Broderick, the first Memphian to the bat, evened up matters by a home run drive to the ight centre seat. Then commenced the real play-ng. McGuirk made a three bagger in the tenth, ut three foul flies left him there. Receius got a two bagger and Cruso a single in the same inning, but they were also left on fly catches. New Orleans went out rapidly in the elevent. Memphis should have won then. Smith hit safe, but tried to steal second and was thrown out. Had he held first he could have scored, for Graulick got a base on balls and Banswine a long single to right. McBride hit a short dy to centre, and Pollemus, after a long run in, just got the ball and then touched second before Graulick got back, making a double play, Polbemus, after his catch, opened the twelfth with a two bager, and scored on Dowle's single. Dowle reached third on the throw in and Riddle's throw second. McGuirk's single brought Dowie home Errors by Receius, a balk, and Fabian's sir scored McGuirk. Banswine then started to play to have the game called, and Banswine pitched over the batter's head, but Spies struck out and didn't run when the strike was missed, and the men on bases didn't budge. Memphis got in a run on a ettled the game. There was a very small crowd

"Why," said a clerk who has been in the dry-goods business the better part of his life, "you have no idea of the trials we have to endure. Just think of showing a customer heavy rolls of goods for a half hour or an hour, and then having her (for the troublesome ones are generally of the fair sex) turn on her heel and walk out without away thanking. and walk out without even thanking out or saying that she wasn't pleased or what the wanted. We have this sort of customers to deal with every day, and then the amount of talking a fellow is expected to do is something awful to think of. I believe it must have ween a dry goods clock who was author of the been a dry goods clerk who was author of the laying that a woman's tongue hangs in the saying that a woman's tongue hangs in the middle, and what one end neglects the other is sure to say. If we didn't do anything but answer questions that would be almost enough to make us prematurely aged, and I guess that's the reason why so many of us die

"Let me give you an instance of what yo have to endure said a young derk—one who hasn't been at the business ery long, and who was consequently tempted of forever sever the ties which to dry goods counter when he first heard the inident referred to. It happened this way! One afternoon, not long ago, two young girls are into the store, and had the clerk just posite me take down about a hundred bolis of special networks and award a market borson goods—they, were pretty heavy too—unroll them, assure them it would not fade nor shrink, and in fact kept him answering all sorts of questions the entire time. After the girls had about worked him down, they very politely informed him that they didn't believe the color or figure of any of the goods exactly suited them, and that they guessed they wouldn't take any. This happened just about dinner time, and it so chanced that as I got on the car to go to my dinner I sat down opposite these same two young legics. ladies. I recognized them at once. They were jabbering away just like two magpies, and in the course of their talk one of them

"The other replied:
"'Wasn't it just too funny, though. I love to see those dudes work. I think it's just too cate for anything to see them reach up after the things and get red in the face and muss their hair all up. That's all I got him to show me those goods for—I didn't want to buy any."

"This was a cooker, I tell you, but I soon or used to it, and don't mind it so much

But the dry goods clerks are not the only ones who have hard trials. The shoe clerks see their share, and they say that it's one of the hardest things on earth to get a number five foot in a number three shoe. But it has to be done sometimes, and that's

WEST END TAKEN IN.

THE GENERAL COUNCIL WANTS IT INSIDE ATLANTA.

The Local Legislatures Meet In Regular Session-An Electric Street Car Line Given a Right of Way-Several Amendments to the City Charter Adopted.

Messrs. Mecaslin and Amorous only were absent when Mayor Glenn called the general council to order yesterday afternoon. But nearly one-half the seats were vacant when the session closed. And it was an interesting, lively meeting. Mr. Woodward, chairman of the street committee, recommended that the Fulton street railway company be permitted to use North Broad street, to Peachtree, Peachtree to Hous-

"The company," said Mr. Woodward, after making the report, "will abandon the Wall, Loyd, Ivy street route to Houston. The system (the electric) will soon be in operation.

"I can't say that I am fully in favor of that report," said Mr. Inman. "Isn't there some danger in those electric cars?" Mr. Woodward smiled.

that the line crossed the Broad street bridge secured the floor, saying: "I am not inclined to concur with the street "I am not inclined to concur with the street committee in that report too quickly. Broad street bridge is the only outlet from north to south Atlanta and we should place no new dangers in the way of those who use it. I move that we recommit the report. Then too there are now two tracks on Peachtree and this would make three. I know that the Peachtree people wen't like this."

Colonel W. S. Thomson, attorney for the company, was given the floor.

"The gentlemen who are interested in this work," said he, "are now ready to go to work, and we don't want any dolay. We have a route given us by this body, but prefer to relinquish some parts, want any density. We have a total given us by this body, but prefer to relinquish some parts, and acquire what your committee has recommended. By law we can condemn one track of the Union line on Peachtree and use that—of course, paying the company a price. Now, I know Mr. Hemphill and Mr. Haas, who are both in the Union company, won't therefore in the Union company, won't therefore in the Union company, won't therefore in the Union company won't therefore in the Union company. both in the Union company, won't throttle us, but will give us a chance. As to the danger of the system, there is no danger in it—none of the system, there is no danger in it—none at all. We are ready to go to work, and don't want to be detained. To show you the faith of those who are building it. I think it only necessary to say that they have agreed to construct it, put it to work and let the company nd accept it before receiving a single examine and accept it before receiving a single cent for the work."

Mr. Jack Spalding, representing the company, too, said:

"As Colonel Thomson has said, we must go to work. I don't think that the Union company will oppose us, but I must say that it looks rather funny that they should object to our taking this route and at the same meeting ask for that route itself."

Mr. Inman continued to question the safety of the system and asserted that in his opinion the iron should go down under the supervision of the city engineer.

of the city engineer.

"The committee," said Mr. Meador, "granting this petition was led to believe that the new company would secure one of the tracks of the old company on Peachtree."

"I move to amend, then," said Mr. Inman, "by adding provided that right can be secured."

'Mr. Inman seems anxious to know," said Mr. Hans, "whether there is any danger in the system or not. If the system is the same as that used in Montgomery—and it is—there is danger in it. Why, in Montgomery the wires dropped and killed a thousand dollar horse belonging to the governor and come year, near killing the the governor, and came very near killing the governor. Two houses were set on fire, and several mules were killed."

"There is no danger in it," said Mr. Woodward. "One hundred men are killed on a railroad to one by electric wires. If the wires are put up substantially there is no danger." "By the way, Mr. Woodward," said Mayor Glenn, interrupting the third warder, "I am told that the electric lights are suspended by ropes. Wouldn't it be a good idea to see that these are secured substantial?"

re was a general smile, Mr. Woodward "I can only say," said Mr. Hemphill, "that the Union line will be perfectly willing to do anything for the new line."

anything for the new line."
"I am in favor of giving them a chance too." said Mr. Howell. "If there is any dauger in the wires we will find it out. Maybe it would be a good thing if the wires would kill a member or two of this council."

Mr. Haas withdrew his motion to recommit

Mr. Haas withdrew his motion to recommit.

Mr. Inman withdrew his amendment.

"I wish to amend however," said Mr. Haas,
"by saying that the city shall have the right to take the wires down if they prove dangerous."

"We have that right anyhow," said Mayor

"I have no special report to make," he said.
"However, while up, I desire to say that there has been some kicking by the second ward on account of the lights. I am from the third, and my ward has less lights than any ward, account of the lights. I am from the third, and my ward has less lights than any ward, while the second, where the kick comes, has more than any ward. I have done hard work in arranging these lights—harder, I think, than any other member of the council would have done. In addition to this I desire to say that the lights at the stationhouse are more satisfactory and cheaper than the gas."

Mr. Moran left his chair for his feet, and glancing first at Mr. Woodward, and then ever the chamber, said:

"The second ward may have more lights than the third. She certainly has more people and pays more taxes, and consequently deserves them. At the same time, the third should have exact justice. I don't think the chairman of the committee should put up the lights at his pleasure, but that they should go up by direction of this body. Only certain portions of the second ward are well lighted, and only sections are kicking. If we haven't the money to pay for them, we must do without. But Crew street have money to pay for them, we must do without. But Crew street claims as much as Pulliam, yet resolutions in favor of Crew street have not even been honored with an adverse report from the committee. Pryor is a leading street, and should have plenty of light. Her people, however, don't want a monepoly. Washington and Capitol avenues are ablaze, while Pryor looks like a dard, dingy, back alley. It should have an equal consideration with Washington and Capitol avenue and Peachtree and should have two more are lights, if only as an artistic adjunct."

"Did the council give the committee the right to locate these lights, Mr. Moran?" asked Mayor Glenn, interrupting.

right to locate these lights, Mr. Moran?" asked Mayor Glenn, interrupting.

"Mr. Moran shouldn't kick," said Mr.
Woodward, "because he can't get are lights all around his property."

"The arcs on Pryor," resumed Mr. Woodward, "go out as far as they do on Washington street, or Capitol avenue, or Whitchall street, and I don't care whether Mr. Moran likes it or not, or whether any one likes ic or not."

"That feeling is thoroughly reciprocated," adjusted by a billious state of the council. If there is any one who don't like it he can lump it."

"An are light is not the one for residence streets," continued Mr. Woodward. "I want to introduce the 65's on those streets."

"Mr. Woodward's claim," said Mr. Moran, "that are lights go out as far on Pryor as on other streets is misleading. From Rawson a half mile jump is made to Richardson. At the Alice street intersection of Pryor, there is a candielight, while an are light is placed on the same intersection of Pryor, there is a candielight, while an are light is placed on the same intersection of Pryor, there is a candielight, while an are light is placed on the same intersection of Pryor, there is a candielight, while an are light to committy. Just think of showing a customer heavy rolls of goods for a half hour or an hour, and then having her (for the troublesome ones are generally of the fair sex) turn on her heel and walk ont without even thanking you or saying that she wasn't pleased or what she wanted. We have this sort of customers to deal with every day, and then the amount of talking a fellow is expected to do is something awful to think of. I believe it must have been a dry goods clerk who was author of the thing awtite thinks of Peeleve it must have been a dry goods clerk who was author of the saying that a woman's tongue hangs in the middle, and what one end neglects the other is sure to say. clerk—one who hasn't been at the business very long, and who was consequently tempted very long, and who was consequently tempted to forever sever the ties which bound him behind the dry goods counter when he first heard the incident referred to. It happened this way! 'One afternoon, not long ago, two young girls, came into the store, and had the clerk just opposite me take down about a hundred bolts of goods—they were pretty heavy too—unroil them, assure them it would not fade nor shrink, and in fact kept him answering all sects of questions the entire time. After the rts of questions the entire time. After the girls had about worked him down, they very politely informed him that they didn't believe the color or figure of any of the goods exactly suited them, and that they guessed they wouldn't take any. This happened just about dinner time, and it so chanced that as I got on the car to go to my dinner I sat down opposite these same two young ladies. I recognized them at once. They were jubbering away just like two magpies, and in the course of their talk one of them said:

"The other replied:
"'Wasn't it just too funny, though. I love to see those dudes work. I think it's just too cute for anything to see them reach up after the things and get red in the face and muss their hair all up. That's all I got him to show me those goods for—I didn't want to buy any."

NEW YORK STOCKS Exchange.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock NEW YORK, June 3.—The stock market today NEW YORK, June 3.—The stock market today showed almore[animated appearance] than on Saturday, and while the market was somewhat irregular and weak in the forenoon there was a general rally with strength in many of the leading shares, and most of the important stocks are higher this evening, while many of the inactive shares were unable to recover the ground lost in the morning. The disaster in Pounsylvania had a depressing effect upon the minds of traders this morning, and coupled with that, was a rumor that several banks and large loaning institutions intended to call in loans on stocks unless there could be ticker service. This opened the market materially lower with and large loaning institutions intended to call in loans on stocks unless there could be ticker service. This opened the market materially lower with Louisville and Nashville down I per cent, but others from 14 to 16 per cent general. The traders were bearishly inclined and by well directed attacks upon the list helped price still further. In the first half hour, grangers being prominent, Burlington took the lead in the deeline, but was followed closely by St. Paul, Rock Island, Louisville and Nashville and some others. Buying at concessions in prices, however, assumed larger proportions and the bôttom was reached and Northern Pacific stocks auddenly sprang into activity with a decidedly strong tone and sharp advance. Rumors accompanying improvement were to the effect that the expected settlement of the points at issue between that company and the Union Pacific had been satisfactorily adjusted and it became known that President Cakes had left for the west. The decline was thereafter soon checked entirely and stocks became prominent movement. Jersey Central and Delaware and Hudson were making sharp upward movements: that it had grangers did not dealy. Exporters took 56,0.0 bushels and miliers bought 40,600 bushels and miliers bought 40,600 bushels, which were the total cash transactions up to the close. Corn ruled duil and featureless throughout the day with small change in prices.

NEW ORLEANS, June 3—[Special.]—Glenny & Violett, in their cotton circular today, say: Liverpool gave a surprise today by an advance of 1-16d on spots and 2-6d on futures, closing firm. This market improved 5@6 points on all the months. It is now developing that the recent rains have been insufficient, which, with the cool weather, leaves the crop but little if any better than before the rains. As a consequence next crop months advanced as much as the summer months. Spots here vanced as much as the summer months. Spots here are steady; sales 600 bales; middling 10%.

POMPEII CATCHING ON IN GREAT SHAPE.

All Former Promises Fulfilled-5,000 Delighted People at Peters Park-Next Preentation Thursday Night-Atlanta's

It was without question one of the best pleased audiences that ever visited a show that attended the third production of "The Last Days of Pompeit." Nearly five thousand people were present, including large numbers from the country, and none left the grounds dissatisfied. The performance went without a hitch, and it can hardly be recognized as the performance given a week

It is now a grand success, and the greatest spectacle that has ever been seen in this section of the country. The specialties were particularly fine, and section of the country.

The specialties were particularly fine, and bearty appliause greeted each act.

The presentation grows on the people. The destruction of the devoted city and the eruption of the angry Vesuvius, was awfully grand and true to Lord Lytton's description.

The protechnics were very fine and were received with grand applause. The entire show was a grand success, and the oftener it is seen the more it can be enjoyed. It will be hard to accommedate the crowds at the future entertainmients, now that our people realize that they are getting the same show that was presented at Coney Island and Chicago, and which delighted millions.

ATLANTA'S FAIREST IN FIRE.

Thursday night will be the next date fixed for the great spectacle, and, inf addition to the presentation. Atlanta's most beautiful daughter will be emblazened in fire. The picture will be perfect, and the beauty will be shown in grand style. Sale of seats for the next performance, which is Thursday, will open this morning at eight at Miller's, where reserved seats can be secured. Remember, only three more performances; an opportunity of a life-time: don't miss it. more performances; an opportunity of a life-time; don't miss it.

Instead of feeling tired and worn out, instead of aches and pains, wouldn't you rather feel fresh and strong? If you continue feeling miscrable and good-for-nothing you have only yourself to blame, for Brown's Iron Butters will surely cure you. It is a certain cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, malaria, weakness, kidney, lung and heart affections. MELON RATES AGAIN:

HAVE THE ULTRO-OHIO RATES BEEN RAISED.

Not on a Mileage Basis But They Average a Cent a Mile-Effect of the Interstate Commerce Law. The question of watermelon rates is revived the basis, though it figures out about the same. Last year the regular fifth-class rate was charged on meloos beyond the Ohio river, and nearly the same basis has been ad poted this year. The fater-state commerce law is giving through rates to towns state commerce law is giving through rates to towns which heretofore had to pay local freight from the nearest common point, and to make up the average the rates to some of the common points may be slightly raised. The prorate from Cincinnati to Pittsburg, for instance, has been raised from 26.55 to 30.72. This change on the whole will not increase the average prorates, but will extend the market by putting a number of new towns on the rate sheets.

The prorate from the Ohio river to Cleveland is $2.50 per tou for 246 miles or 1.20 cents per mile; to

The prorate from the Ohio river to Cleveland is $2.5) per ton for 26 miles or 1.20 cents per mile; to Buffalo it is $2.77 per ton for 429 miles, or 64 hundredths of a cent per mile; to Indianapolis it is $1.94 per ton for 110 miles, or 1.76 cents per mile, and to Pittaburg it is $2.56 per ton for 313 miles, or 81 hundredths of a cent per mile. On long hauls the mileage is low and on short ones it is high. The average of the last four points $1.06 cents a ton per mile.

A larger number with more remote points would reduce the average to about one cent per mile.

The writer of the communication is in error in supposing that the rate beyond the Ohio river was eight miles a ton per miles hast year. That might have been true of the rate to some particular point, but it was not true of the average. The basis then as now was the lifth class rate and that rate, so far as the railreads here have advices, will not be changed except in some cases to conform to the intersiate commerce law, and that change it made will only be a relative one between large and small points to preserve rather than change the average.

Mr. J. L. Hand, representing the melon growers of Georgia, appeared before the Chicago and Ohio River Traffic association and made an effort to get the rates reduced. Some of the reads seemed to think favorably of it but some of the rate sheets have been issued and they do not show a re fuction. Here is a list of rates showing the prorates beyond the Ohio river. Such of these prorates as appear on the Cincinnati southern tariff of last year, with the exception of Pittsburg, were the same as this year.

Death of Mrs. Frank Francis.

This most estimable and excellent Christian lady, eldest daughter of Dr. Harris, pastor of Hunter Street Christian church, in this city, departed this life on yesterday aftenoon at 6 o'clock, at the resi-dence of her husband, Mr. Frank M. Fraucts, on Martin street, after near three weeks' of painful illness. Her patient suffering through it all was like all the phazes of her noble life, a beautiful manifestation of that pure spirit that seemed ever to animate her whole being and made her the charm ocial life, and the pride of her devoted parents social life, and the pride of her devoted parents.

She asked that some of her favorite hymns should be sung to her, and when a pause came in the singing, said, with feeble but earnest voice:
"Don't stop—I am getting ready for the angels."
Later she asked for her husband and her children, and had a sweet parting word for each. The mother of Mrs. Francis is sick at the family home, in Washington county—where the deceased will be interred—and could not come to her daughter's bedside. But many noble lady members of the church, and other neighbors and friends, tried to fill the absent mother's place, by constant, gentle, devoted and unremitting care and a tention to the dying daughter, thus greatly soothing the sore trial and angulsh of the sorrowing, unhappy father and husband, Mrs. Francis was endowed with fine native intellect, was exceedingly intelligent, native intellect, was exceedingly intelligent, and was ever devoted to her friends, her home, the church, and to every good word and work. How strange that a life so useful and so full of good words should be taken away in young womanbood, and her devoted husband and orphaned children be left to mourn their irreparable loss. Yet there is consolation for the many crushed and saddened hearts of near kindred and friends, in the faut, that as her bright spirit was
